Cast: Geordie Johnson (Antipholus); Keith Dinicol (Dromio); Nicholas Pennell (Egeon of Syracuse); Goldie Semple (Adriana); Lucy Peacock (Luciana); James Blendick (Duke of Ephesus).

SUMMARY Shakespeare's adaptation of the Menaechmi of Plautus. A romantic comedy that tells of the complications which follow when the merchant Aegeon enters the enemy state of Ephesus in hopes of reuniting his family years after a shipwreck separates him from his twin sons, their twin slaves, and his wife.

THE COMIC SPIRIT
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SCZco vhs

59 minutes, c1991, written, directed and presented by David Whitworth, produced and directed by Noel Hardy. Performed by the New Shakspeare Company from the Open Air Theatre in Regent Park.

SUMMARY Explains the elements of comedy used by Shakespeare. Illustrates the use of mischief, power of the unexpected, love at first sight, verbal dexterity, stinging power of wit, magic of music, convention of disguise, misfortune and tragic potential, and the role of clowns.

DEATH IN VICTORY: SHAKESPEARE'S TRAGIC RECONCILIATIONS
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 STZbow vhs

54 minutes, 1990, executive producer, Frederick G. Ruffner; producers, Matthew J. Bruccoli and Richard Layman; director, Rick Import.

SUMMARY Professor Fredson Bowers examines the nature of tragedy and the significance of the tragic experience. He gives special attention to Hamlet, noting how the hero, accepting his tragic error in the rash killing of Polonius, submits himself to the divine will and awaits God's time for appropriate retribution on Claudius. The 'moment of final suspense,' which in classical drama is the moment when the protagonist makes his original blunder again, in Hamlet becomes the moment when the hero expresses his awareness of his tragic situation just before his death.

DISCOVERING HAMLET
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 ShZdi vhs

53 minutes, c1990, executive producer, Mark Olshaker; produced by Larry Klein; written and directed by Mark Olshaker

Cast: The Renaissance Theatre Company, directed by Derek Jacobi, Kenneth Branagh (Hamlet), Richard Easton (Claudius), Edward Jewesbury (Polonius), Sophie Thompson (Ophelia), Jay Villiers (Laertes)).

SUMMARY Discovering Hamlet takes a unique, behind-the-scenes look at a fresh interpretation of one of the world's great works of dramatic literature by two of the world's outstanding and most talked-about classical actors. The setting is England's renown Birmingham Repertory Theater where Derek Jacobi, the celebrated Shakespearean actor who has played Hamlet both for the BBC and the Old Vic, directs stage and film star Kenneth Branagh, taking on theater's most coveted role for the first time.
This video weaves together the story of William Shakespeare's timeless masterpiece with interviews by articulate and gifted actors as they struggle toward a fresh approach and a vibrant interpretation of the Bard's most famous tale. Viewers share in the vital creative process as the company brings a challenging classic to the stage. The exciting, fast-paced narrative counts down from the halting first morning of rehearsal to the tension-filled opening night.

THE ELIZABETHANS
CALL NUMBER: 391.00941 E43 vhs

27 minutes, c1992, production, John Rhodes, Marjory Ruse; directed by John Rhodes. Series: Seven ages of fashion; pt. 1. Title on container: The Elizabethans (1558-1603

SUMMARY Explains how Elizabethan court clothes in Great Britain were made and given shape, who wore what, what kind of non-verbal messages clothing sent and how complicated it was to dress and once dressed, to move about. Also discusses how children's clothes reflected their role as miniature-version adults.

EXPLORING A CHARACTER
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 Sm2Ze vhs

SUMMARY David Suchet and Patrick Stewart had each played the part of Shylock under the direction of Barton and had not seen each other's portrayals. Here, under the guidance of Barton, they discuss their interpretations of the character, and each plays each scene, showing often strikingly different results from the same text and the same basic approach.

FEUDING AND LOVING IN WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE'S ROMEO AND JULIET
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 Sr3Zfe vhs

37 minutes, c1990, executive producer, Frederick G. Ruffner; producers, Matthew J. Bruccoli and Richard Layman. (The Eminent Scholar/Teachers Series. William Shakespeare)

SUMMARY Williams analyzes the themes of loving and hating in Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet, "showing the balance that Shakespeare created between the love affair and the family feud. Romeo and Juliet are sacrifices, whose deaths in the tomb in Act V make possible the reconciliation between the Montagues and the Capulets and bring peace, though a 'glooming' one, to Verona."

THE GREAT HAMLETS
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 ShZgrea vhs reels 1-2

120 minutes on 2 videocassettes, c1996, Conceived and produced by Joseph Wishy; director, Derek Bailey.

Summary: Include interviews with the greatest interpreters of Hamlet from around the world including Laurence Olivier, Ben Kingsley, and Maximilian Schell. Describes their thoughts about the role, how to play it, and why it is such a great challenge.

HAMLET AS MINISTER AND SCOURGE
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 ShZha vhs

36 minutes, c1990, executive producer, Frederick G. Ruffner; producers, Matthew J. Bruccoli, Richard Layman; director, Rick Import. (Eminent Scholar/Teachers. William Shakespeare)
SUMMARY "Fredson Bowers analyzes Hamlet's speech after he has killed Polonius and describes the theological significance of the terms 'minister' and 'scourge.' He explains how the death of Polonius changes Hamlet's role as avenger and makes him understand that his primary responsibility is to be a minister of God's will."

IN THE STEPS OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZinth vhs

20 minutes, c1993, produced and directed by James H. Bride, II.

SUMMARY A guided tour through Stratford, England and the sites that of particular importance in Shakespeare's life.

IN SEARCH OF SHAKESPEARE
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZins dvd discs 1-2

240 minutes on 2 discs, c2003, written and presented by Michael Wood with The Royal Shakespeare Company, director, Gregory Doran.

SUMMARY An intimate look at William Shakespeare and his world.

IRONY AND AMBIGUITY
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZiro vhs

51 minutes, c1982, written and presented by John Barton; director, John Carlaw; producer, Andrew Snell. (Playing Shakespeare) Participants: Ben Kingsley, Alan Howard, Jane Lapotaire, Michael Pennington, Mike Gwilym, Richard Pasco, Tony Church, Norman Rodway, David Suchet. Originally made for London Weekend Television in 1982; shown on Channel 4 in 1984. Seventh of a series of eleven workshop programs

SUMMARY In this workshop, director John Barton and members of the Royal Shakespeare Company demonstrate how irony, ambiguity and sarcasm are to be treated, for these are elements not in the words themselves but in their reading. The group demonstrates how understanding the intended irony in a phrase or speech totally changes the perception of the character who is speaking.

LANGUAGE AND CHARACTER
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZlaa vhs

SUMMARY A program about the Elizabethan relish of words: their resonances, onomatopoeia, alliteration, and antithesis. Members of the Royal Shakespeare Company show how Shakespeare uses language to define character and how his characters use heightened language to achieve their intentions. Examples from Love's Labour's Lost, Henry V, Julius Caesar, Hamlet, Richard II, Antony and Cleopatra, Merchant of Venice.

LEAR '87 ARCHIVE (CONDENSED)
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 Sk1Zlea dvd discs 1-3

339 minutes on 3 video discs, 1987, produced and directed by Jill Godmilow. Title on containers and disc surfaces: "Mabou Mines' Lear '87 Archive (Condensed.)"

Cast: Lee Breuer, Ruth Maleczech, Isabell Monk, Greg Mehrten, Ron Vawter, Bill Raymond, Lute Ramblin'
SUMMARY  In 1987, the formidable Mabou Mines Theatrical Collaborative began a two-week workshop on a new 'King Lear' - a fully gender-reversed one - directed by Lee Breuer and featuring Ruth Maleczech in the title role of Lear. Jill Godmilow's unique archive of their work on "Lear" makes for a creative joy ride ... a master class on avant garde theater at its very best.

THE MAKING OF A MONOLOGUE: ROBERT WILSON'S HAMLET
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 ShZmak vhs
and 822.3 ShZmak vhs guide

63 minutes, c1995, Performed, directed & designed by Robert Wilson VHS Video producer/director/writer, Marion Kessel. The world premiere of Robert Wilson's Hamlet was held at the Alley Theatre, Houston, Texas, May 1995.

SUMMARY " ... provides a fascinating picture of how Robert Wilson created his unique one-man performance of Hamlet ... drawing on rehearsal and performance footage ... interviews with Wilson himself and his principal artistic collaborators ... "--Container.

MUCH ADO ABOUT SOMETHING
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZmuch vhs

90 minutes, 2003, producers, Michael Rubbo, Penelope McDonald ; written, directed, narrated and filmed by Michael Rubbo.

SUMMARY: Follows Mike Rubbo as he tracks down the clues as to the identity of the author of Shakespeare's plays. He focuses on the sect that believes in Christopher Marlowe as the best candidate. The chief proponent of the Marlowe theory was Calvin Hoffman.

PASSION AND COOLNESS
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZpass vhs

SUMMARY In this workshop, director John Barton and members of the Royal Shakespeare Company focus on Hamlet's advice to the players to be natural and not grotesque. Applying the lesson, they seek to balance heightened language with naturalistic performance and emotion with intellect, and examine some of the striking--and deliberate--inconsistencies in Shakespearean characters.

PERFORMING SHAKESPEARE
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZperf vhs

120 minutes, c1990, Directed and edited by Ken Kebow.

SUMMARY Uses single and duo studio exercises and the presentation of a complete scene from Hamlet to assist actors, teachers, students, coaches, and directors in achieving the techniques necessary for the performance of Shakespearean drama. Geared specifically toward productions using American actors.

POETRY AND HIDDEN POETRY
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZpoet vhs

53 minutes, c1982, written and presented by John Barton; director, John Carlaw; producer, Andrew Snell. (Playing Shakespeare) Participants: Peggy Ashcroft, Ben Kingsley, Ian McKellen, Alan Howard, Lisa Harrow, Donald Sinden, David Suchnet. Originally made for London Weekend Television in 1984; shown on Channel Four in 1984. The last of a series of eleven workshop programs

SUMMARY In this workshop, members of the Royal Shakespeare Company demonstrate Shakespeare's many uses of poetry: text which is poetic and yet not obviously heightened, the hidden poetry in seemingly unpoetic lines, polysyllabic stretches which trip easily off the tongue while monosyllabic lines and words are packed with thoughts and feelings, poetic phrases which say more than what they actually describe.

PREPARING TO PERFORM SHAKESPEARE

CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZpre vhs

50 minutes, c1979, written and presented by Trevor Nunn; director, Peter Walker; producer, Andrew Snell. (Playing Shakespeare) Participants: Trevor Nunn, John Barton, Terry Hands, Alan Howard, Jane Lapotaire, Ian McKellen, Michael Pennington, Patrick Stewart, David Suchet. Originally made in England in 1979 for the television program The South Bank Show, as second of two master classes filmed before a studio audience; they were shown in 1980, as Word of mouth, pts. 1 and 2--Cf. Playing Shakespeare / John Barton. 1984. Foreword. (Videorecording title for pt. 1: Speaking Shakespearean verse.) Second of a series of eleven workshop programs

SUMMARY Director Barton works on a scene from Troilus and Cressida with several actors; McKellen describes the ideas that run through an actor’s head as he prepares for a major soliloquy; Stewart contrasts two different performances of Enobarbus' speech from Antony and Cleopatra, "The barge she sat in ..."

REHEARSING THE TEXT

CALL NUMBER: 822.3 St5Zr vhs

SUMMARY In this workshop, director John Barton and members of the Royal Shakespeare Company concentrate on a scene from Twelfth Night as they search through the text for Shakespeare's clues to character, language, and staging. Together they demonstrate how richly a careful reading of Shakespeare is rewarded.

RICHARD II

CALL NUMBER 822.3 Sr1Zri vhs reels 1-2

50 minutes on 2 videocassettes, c1997, producer, Amanda Willet.

CONTENTS [reel 1] Character of a King -- [reel 2] Politics, patriotism, and authority.

SUMMARY Commentary from actors Jeremy Irons, Michael Pennington, Michael Cronin, and director David Giles about three recent productions of Shakespeare's play Richard II. The productions are compared as to the different interpretations of the character of the King and his deposition, the nature of authority, and the political situation in England. Excerpts from the 1978 BBC, the 1987 Royal Shakespeare Company, and the 1988 English Shakespeare Company productions illustrate the comments.

THE ROMAN TRAGEDIES

CALL NUMBER: 822.3 STZrt vhs

62 minutes, c1991; directed, written and presented by David Whitworth, produced and directed by Noel Hardy. Performed by the New Shakespeare Company from the Open Air Theatre in Regents Park.
SUMMARY This program provides an introduction to Shakespeare's Roman tragedies Julius Caesar, Antony and Cleopatra and Coriolanus. Particular attention is given to Shakespeare's treatment of the themes of leadership and loyalty, tyranny and tyrannicide, and political and personal treachery.

SET SPEECHES AND SOLIOQUY
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZset vhs

SUMMARY In this masterclass, John Barton works with members of the Royal Shakespeare Company on set speeches and soliloquies. Dialogue is easier to understand, because a character reaches out to another character. In a set speech or soliloquy, a character reaches out to the audience. To be effective, such a speech must arise out of a situation, must have a story, and must be spontaneous.

SHAKESPEARE AND HIS STAGE: APPROACHES TO HAMLET
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 ShZsh vhs

45 minutes, c1975, produced and directed by Harold Mantell. (The History of the Drama) Stephen Tate, Lesley Duff; Hamlet interpreted by Laurence Olivier, John Gielgud, Nicol Williamson, John Barrymore.

SUMMARY Narrated by Sir John Gielgud, the film examines different approaches to Hamlet as portrayed by the four greatest Shakespearean actors of the last sixty years: the splendid nobleman of John Barrymore, the agonized yet royally calm prince of Laurence Olivier, the controlled and reined-in personality of Sir John Gielgud, and the raging young man of Nicol Williamson. These performances are juxtaposed with those of an inexperienced young actor seeking to master the part in a role staged in the Elizabethan manner in the courtyard of Warwick Castle.

SHAKESPEARE: A DAY AT THE GLOBE
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 Szshakse vhs

28 minutes, c1977, written and produced by William Furstenberg.

SUMMARY Discusses the development of public theater up to the building of Shakespeare's Globe reviewing the social, political, and cultural events that made Shakespeare's accomplishments possible. Recreates a performance at the Globe.

SHAKESPEARE AND THE GLOBE
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZshg vhs

31 minutes, c1985, produced and directed by Hugh Richmond and Paul Shepard.

SUMMARY Puts Shakespeare's plays into perspective against the times he lived in and the theatrical traditions upon which he built. Included are the geography of Elizabethan London, surviving sites in Stratford, and examples of traditional English country dances used in the plays.

SHAKESPEARE, DIRECTING FOR FILM AND STAGE
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 SZsd dvd

18 minutes, 2001?, director film, Arthur Tanaka; director stage, David Ritchie; producer, Barbara Peters.
SUMMARY This program looks at the various challenges in dealing with bringing Shakespeare’s plays to life, from a directing point of view. Taking scenes from ‘Hamlet’, directors discuss ways of interpreting the texts, and how those choices affect the meaning and performance. The video shows that Shakespeare’s texts are as open to interpretations as they are subject to context. The video also discusses the stylistic possibilities and limitations of both stage and film, and how these parameters inform the choices for directors.

SHAKESPEARE EXPLORATIONS WITH PATRICK STEWART. HAMLET: CLAUDIUS
CALL NUMBER: 822.3 ShZshak vhs

SUMMARY This series was produced by teachers who are Shakespearean experts as a teaching tool to elaborate on the plays that most students study. Patrick Stewart and other actors discuss and act some of the scenes on a limbo set and provide unique and vivid insights into both the theatrical and literary qualities of Shakespeare’s plays.

SHAKESPEARE EXPLORATIONS WITH PATRICK STEWART. HAMLET: POLONIUS
